When the mind's focus is directed inward one discovers
A world of infinite wonder and complexity, the likes of Which have no comparison in the physical world;
Though unless one ventures beyond the veil of ignorance
The true measure of wisdom shall never be realized:
For the great illusion blinds many to the mystical jewels
That lie just beyond the grasp of understanding;
A desire to explore the depths without fear of confronting
The unknown, a necessity for soles who seek a deeper
Understanding of life's mysteries; the courage to venture
Beyond the nature of falsehood, to experience wonders the Likes of which few will ever experience; descending into
A timeless abyss to liberate the mind from the ceaseless
Turmoil which inhibits the ability to think independently:
Shedding light upon obstacles that pose a threat to growth
So that clarity may be restored to thought, to aid in the Arduous task of reviving an ancient awareness which slumbers
Severing the shackles that bind us to an altar of ignorance.